

BILLY DREAMER'S FANTASTIC FRIENDS

by Brian Patten

The Incredible Hulk came to tea,
Robin was with him too,
Batman stayed at home that night,
Because his bat had flu.

Superman called to say hello and Spiderman spun us a joke.
Dynamite Sue was supposed to come but she went up in smoke.

The Invisible Man might have called.
But as I wasn't sure,
I left an empty chair and bun
Beside the kitchen door.

They signed my autograph book,
But I dropped it in the fire.
Now whenever I tell my friends
They say I'm a terrible liar.

But incredible people do call round
(Specially when I'm alone),
and if they don't and I get bored,
I call them on the phone.

